Between 80 and 90 fathers and sons attended the annual banquet at the Baptist church last evening and the event was the most successful of the several which the church has held. Chicken pie was the main feature of the supper and after all had done justice to the feed a short program was given. Clyde Perry, superintendent of the Sunday school, presided and made a short address. Rev. Bert J. Leigh gave a number of readings. Fred Ligh sang and the Sunday school orchestra gave two selections.

There will be a Red Cross lecture, "To-day and To-morrow," with stereopticon slides, at the Magnet next Sunday, Nov. 20, at 3 p. m., with a community sing. This is the season of the Red Cross drive for annual membership. Fifty cents of every dollar collected is used by our local chapter in employing of a public health nurse and in the home service department. The other fifty cents is sent to national headquarters. The story of its expenditure is illustrated in this lecture. The lecture is free, but children under 12 years will not be admitted unless accompanied by an adult.—

Not an Ache or Pain.

Massena, N. Y., May 25, 1901.

Mr. A. J. Phillips:

Dear Sir—I have been going to write to you for some time, but something always happens just at the time. Well in regard to your Rheumatic Cure, I find that in my eleven years' experience with rheumatism I have never found anything equal to it. I do not suffer an ache or pain and have been able to sleep as well as ever since taking the fifth bottle. Mr. Phillips, I cannot begin to express the feelings I have for the Famous A. J. P. Rheumatic Cure, and if you know of anyone who is suffering from rheumatism, advise them to try it. It is in your power, to cure me, and I am sure that it will surely do the business if they will give it a fair trial. If you know of anyone that you would like me to write to, let me know and I will do so, for if there is anything I can do for anyone who is suffering from rheumatism, I want to do it, as I know what it is to suffer, having never seen a well day in eleven years until I took your cure. Hoping this will find you well, I remain,

Respectfully yours,
D. W. Montondo.

MONTPELIER

National Life Insurance Co. 30 Years in Present Location.

To-day was the 30th anniversary of the removal of the National Life Insurance company to its present location, and it is interesting to note that the assets of the company at that time was $7,103,542 against $76,405,807 at the last report on Oct. 1 and that the insurance in force then was $51,369,348 in contrast to $333,229,419 now.

When the company occupied the present building it had 25 clerks and officers and when the company moves into its new building now under construction at the corner of State street and Western avenue it probably will take along 230 clerks and officers. Of the 23 employed by the company 30 years ago nine are still in the employ of the company.

Miss Marjorie Spooner has gone to Boston, where she will witness the Harvard-Yale football game to-day. She will spend about a week in Boston before returning here.

Edward Rodgers returned this morning from Bethel, where he has been visiting his parents.

Mrs. J. P. Gifford of Randolph, S. Swedfoger of Marshfield and Mrs. Sherman Lyford of East Montpelier were in the city yesterday on business.

H. E. Bremer of the state department of agriculture has returned from New York City, where he attended the annual meeting of the International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors.

Among the noted men who spoke were Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York City, Charles H. Kilbourne of New York City, a pasteurization expert, C. W. Larson, chief of the dairy department of the U. S. department of agriculture, Robert S. Brood of Geneva, N. Y., a noted bacteriologist, who spoke on the breed count or direct microscopic examination of milk, W. A. Steeking, head of the dairy department of Cornell university, and C. L. Roadhouse, head of the dairy department of the University of California. The conference lasted from Nov. 14 to 18 inclusive. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions were held. On Tuesday evening a banquet was held in honor of James O. Jordan. About 125 members and guests attended the conference, the purpose of which was to secure a better understanding of the problems involved in the betterment of milk supplies.

County Warden E. H. Metcalf has reported to the state fish and game commissioner under date of Nov. 10 the arrest of Bino Mezzozatti of Readsbury for possessing four partridges out of season. Mezzozatti had no hunting license. He was noticed by the warden on Sept. 18, but dropped the bag in which he had the partridges and took a hurried trip into Massachusetts. He appeared in Windham county court after being arrested in a raid made on Sept. 29. On his plea of guilty he was fined $30 and costs of $8 and paid fine and costs. He was suspected of having snared the birds, but could not be convicted on this charge.

S. W. Gupit of Waterbury was elected president of the county association of the New England Milk Producers' association at the meeting in Montpelier Thursday afternoon. J. A. Cummings of Barre was elected vice-president and H. C. Marshall of Waterbury secretary and treasurer. Richard Pattee, manager of the New England Milk Producers' association, gave an address, discussing the Copper-Volstead bill and the Voigt bill, telling of the need of an adequate dairy tariff and reminding that only by organization could the farmers command a just price for their commodities.

Dr. A. J. DeFosssett of the state department of agriculture leaves next Wednesday for Chicago, where he will attend a conference of federal, state, county and municipal officers engaged in the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. The conference will take up especially the public health side of the work, including the possibility of transmission of the disease from animals to people. Dr. DeFosssett will also attend a meeting of the United States Livestock Sanitary association and the International Livestock exposition to be held in the Union stock yards from Nov. 26 to Dec. 5. He will return about Dec. 1.
